CollZap

Every ambitious student deserves serious peers.

India's Campus-Based Intent Matching Platform

Nitish Kumar — Founder & CEO | dhullnitesh115@gmail.com

Meet Arjun. 19 years old. First day of college.

He entered campus highly motivated, aware, and ambitious.

He had massive plans for his college years—to learn, to grow, and to build real things.

But on Day 1, there was only noise and confusion. He had no way to know who was genuinely serious vs. who was just passing time.

Like every student, he defaulted to convenience. He connected with whoever sat next to him or spoke first.

His circle was not chosen. It just happened.

And that wrong circle quietly wastes a student's prime college years.

The Existing Solutions Failed Arjun.

No platform exists that strictly maps and filters human intent within a specific geographical campus.

Failed Alternatives
Convincing local friends? → Not serious.
Searching LinkedIn? → Too formal, no local campus connection.
WhatsApp/Discord? → Endless spam, zero vetting.

Systemic Ecosystem Metrics

46.5M Indian college students.

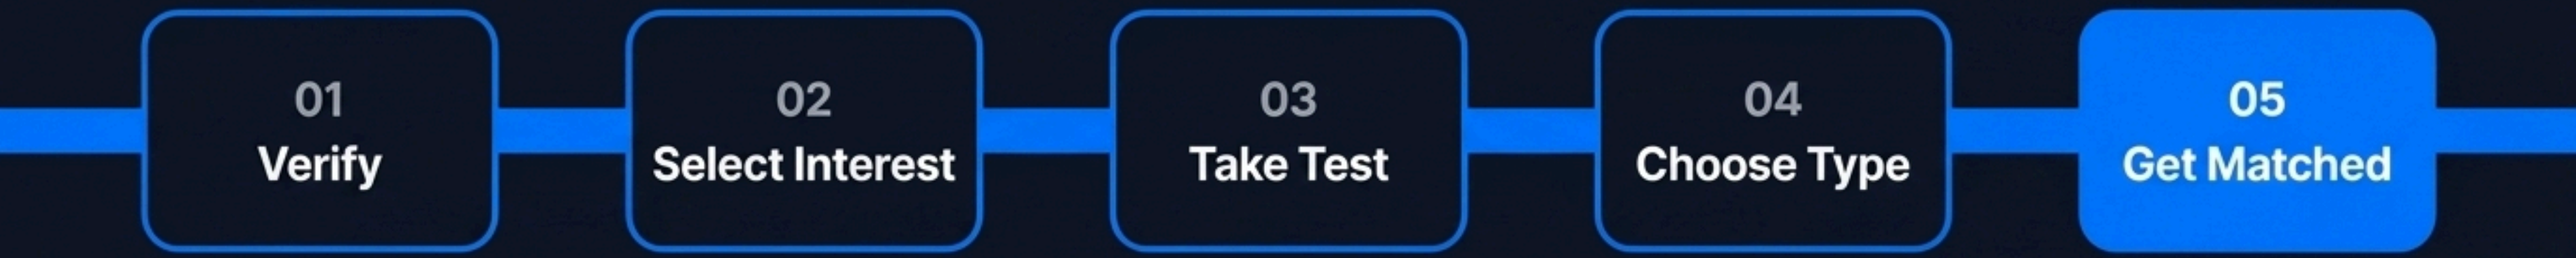

57% report severe isolation on campus.

82% claim growth slowed down by immediate peers.

THE SOLUTION

Then Arjun found CollZap.

After a frustrating first week, Arjun downloads CollZap. He securely verifies his identity, selects his specific builder interests, takes a quick objective test to map his skills, chooses his preferred peer type, and gets automatically matched with a high-intent circle. No scrolling, no public profile, just action.

Targeting a Massive, Disconnected Audience

46.5 Million Indian undergrads across 50,000+ colleges facing traditional social media fatigue

Everyone Has Tried. Nobody Solved It.

WhatsApp/Discord:	High noise | Zero vetting | Zero identity privacy
LinkedIn:	High friction | Job-hunting focus | Not peer-centric
Bumble BFF / Tinder U:	Dating-first design architecture | No growth/execution intent

The Advantage: Hyper-local + Absolute Anonymity until Matched + Explicit Intent Filtering.

In 5 years, every single ambitious college student GLOBALLY will find execution circle within 24 hours of stepping onto a campus.

We are shifting the college experience from accidental grouping to deliberate, high-intent networking. No ambitious mind should ever feel isolated on their own campus.

Thank You.

Let's fix the campus ecosystem together.
